The pebble and the pond

Newsorthy events happen at Browns of Chester all the time. Sometimes they cause a ripple sometimes quite a splash—but always the word gets around—and in ever widening circles. Perhaps this is why people from several counties have come to regard us as their natural shopping centre. Like the pebble in the pond—we are at the hub of things.

EVERY SUCCESS TO SCOUTABOUT 1968 FROM THE HOUSEHOLD CAVALRY

Chester's first Queen's Scout, Ken WALLEY (1st Christleton) is at present, like other members of Chester and District Scouts Association, serving with The Life Guards as a member of Her Majesty's Household Cavalry. They all agree that scouting has been a big help to them during their career.

The Household Cavalry, consisting of THE LIFE GUARDS and the ROYAL HORSE GUARDS (The Blues), serve as armoured Regiments and two horsed squadrons. The Life Guards are at present in the Far East with Armoured Cars and the Royal Horse Guards due to go to Germany equipped with the new Chieftain tank. The Horsed Squadrons from each Regiment are permanently in London. They provide the Queen's Life Guard, Her Majesty's personal guard. They also participate in many occasions of State. Recruits can choose either the Ceremonial duties with horses or technical trades with armoured vehicles. A wide choice of trades are offered for a minimum of 3 years. If you would like more information, please write to :

IT'S A GREAT, GREAT GAME

(By the District Commissioner)

'The aim of the Scout Movement is to encourage the physical, mental and spiritual development of young people so that they may take a constructive place in society.'

'The method of achieving the aim of the Movement is by providing an enjoyable and attractive scheme of progressive training, based on the Scout Law and Promise and guided by adult leadership.'

Dear Reader,

It may be that you are reading this as you wait for the curtain to rise. Maybe you don't know anything about Scouting beyond the fact that you have seen the boys in their distinctive uniforms around the streets of Chester, or elsewhere. I hope that the Show will give you a better appreciation of Scouting than you had previously.

Perhaps you were yourself once a Cub, or a Scout, or even a Scout Leader, but dropped out for some reason and lost touch.

Whether you were or were not a Scout, your services, be you lady or gentleman, could be used in a variety of ways to suit your own inclinations and interests. You can offer yourself for warranted rank! If you don't wish to commit yourself that far, you can still offer your services to instruct the boys in some pursuit. There are so many badges in our proficiency badge system, that I am pretty sure whatever your particular speciality is, you could instruct the boys for some badge or other. If you haven't even the time for that, perhaps you could be a badge examiner, so that you can test boys in the knowledge of any particular subject in which you are proficient.

For ladies the particular place in the Movement is in the Cub Scout Section. Lady Cubmasters are more the rule than the exception.

Scouting in Chester has expanded greatly in the past two decades and you can be sure there is a Scout Group pretty near where you live. I am sure this applies to most areas of town and country. Why not see the officers there and offer YOUR help?

I know you think you wouldn't have a clue as to the first thing to do with the boys! Most of us hadn't when we started—but you soon learn. And what is more you will find tremendous fun and satisfaction as you go along, in playing this Great Game of Scouting—because although it is a Game and everybody enjoys Scouting, somehow or other it manages to turn out boys to be good citizens and to take a constructive place in Society. The recent Chief Scout's Advance Party has reorganised and rejuvenated the Movement and it is now an even more exciting movement to be in.

Perhaps having said all that, you feel that dealing with boys directly is just not your 'cup of tea,' although you think that Scouting is good for them. There is still a job for you to do—serving on a Group Committee; helping that way to organise the finances of the Group so that the Scout Leaders may be saved the time and worry of raising the necessary funds to furnish the headquarters, and to provide the equipment, and so let them get on with their proper job of training the boy.

But I forgot! Maybe you are not a lady or a gentleman at all who is reading this! Perhaps you are a Boy—who so far hasn't gone in for this Great, Great Game. If you have enjoyed what you see tonight you will want to sample some of the other fare of Scouting. Just go along to your nearest Group and join up! You'll never regret it.

Very sincerely yours, W. S. COOPER,

This title appears as the opening item of the second half of our show. When you see it you will observe that the boys are showing some of the activities that are a popular impression of scouting. Obviously the producer cannot show all the activities we try in our work because that would be more than a whole show itself. One thing it will emphasise is that Scouting is a brotherhood. When this number is interpreted in some Gang Shows the setting is at Gilwell, the home of Scouting, and the hand of brotherhood is extended to two coloured boys who represent the International spirit of our movement.

This spirit was very much alive in 1967 with the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the founding of the movement, the re-visiting of Brownsea Island, Baden Powell's first camp site, and above all a World Jamboree in the United States of America. Several boys from the Chester District were able to go to Idaho and attend the Jamboree, later spending several days as guests of American families. Others met Scouts from all parts of the Commonwealth at the week's camp at Brownsea. Yet more held their group summer camps abroad and others entered the International hike under the 'Explorer belt' scheme. I am sure that there is no doubt in their minds that Scouting is an International brotherhood.

I cannot say much about the attributes of a scout, this year, as I may influence the entries in our competition that a local paper is kindly promoting to help the show, but I would draw your attention to the theme line of the 'Strangers here' selection—'Gee, its a wonderful life.'

That word 'wonderful' can lose its meaning through familiarity so may I suggest that we say that Scouting should be 'A life, full of wonder.'

R. D. CRAWSHAW, Secretary.
